

Cameron Daddo hosts Nights on Smooth FM

Cameron Daddo gives listeners a reason to 'feel good' seven nights a week from 9pm on Smooth FM in Sydney and Melbourne and nationally on DAB+.

Cameron joined Smooth FM's Weekend line-up in 2012 and less than a year later began hosting Evenings on Smooth FM.

A multi-award winning entertainer, Cameron Daddo has acted, produced, directed for film and television and performed in music theatre. He is also a published singer/songwriter, television host and radio announcer. Cam recently was a guest star on Channel Seven's Home & Away and appeared in the 2022 comedy/drama How to Please a Woman.

With numerous big screen roles in movies, the Logie Award winner has also scored starring roles in US TV series including, 24, CSI: Miami, Boston Legal, NCIS and The Mentalist. More recently he has had lead roles in the stage productions of The Sound of Music, Legally Blonde, Charles Dickens' The Haunting and a season with the Rocky Horror Show. In 2018 Cam appeared in the SBS Series Filthy, Rich & Homeless. Passionate about men's mental health, Cameron established the charity My Men's Team, which offers men a blueprint to support one another through hardship.

Married for over 30 years, Cameron and his wife Alison host the Separate Bathrooms podcast, where they are joined by some of the most interesting couples in Australia to take a look behind the closed doors of their relationships. In July 2022 Cameron teamed up with his brother Andrew Daddo to host the podcast So You Want To Make A TV Show, embarking on the heartbreaking, exhausting and downright ridiculously-good-time adventure of making their very own TV show.

Cameron Daddo is a songwriter, guitar player and singer, released his latest single 'Break Up Fall Out', a feel good, up tempo live favourite in October 2022.

Cameron and his wife Alison Brahe live in Sydney with their three children, Lotus, River and Bodhi.

Cameron Daddo hosts Smooth FM Evenings from 9pm to midnight, seven nights a week.
